Objectives

About Me:

As a self-taught front-end developer, I have developed a strong foundation in HTML, CSS, and Javascript. I am passionate about cybersecurity and am always looking to expand my knowledge in this field. My experience as a waiter and casual worker has given me excellent customer service skills, and I thrive in fast-paced environments.

I am a creative problem solver who enjoys working collaboratively with others to achieve goals. In my spare time, I enjoy attending coding meetups, reading about the latest front-end development trends, and practicing my coding skills on personal projects.
